Brock Performing Arts Center

Along with community outreach programs for the Davie County's elementary school students each year, the Arts Council provides performing and visual arts events in its beautifully renovated Brock Performing Arts Center and Gallery.

The "Brock" has earned the reputation for being a premier listening room for acoustical music throughout North Carolina and hosts an annual performing arts series, highlighting music, theatre, dance, art classes, ArtWorks' Photo Club and more!

Great care is given in selecting quality performers and artists to highlight each year. With intimate seating capacity and wonderful acoustics, our patrons continue to be impressed.

Legendary Doc Watson performed on the Brock stage three times. During his last performance in 2010 he told our audience " This is the best listening room in the Triad." With its 485-seat capacity (plus five wheelchair spaces), the Brock is in the constant care of the Arts Council.
